

“Today You Will Be With Me...”

John Richardson | 3/22/2026

Luke 23:39-43

1. Where do you see the tendency toward self-centeredness in your own heart? What are some subtle ways it shows up in daily life?
2. How did the criminals approach Jesus on their own terms? In what ways do people today try to approach God on their own terms rather than surrendering to Him?
3. Why is acknowledging our true condition before God such an important step toward transformation?
4. What areas of your life are hardest to place under the authority of Christ's kingdom?
5. What does it look like practically for God's kingdom to shape your decisions this week?
6. What does Jesus' response to the repentant criminal tell you about the heart of Jesus toward people who turn to Him?
7. How should the Christian hope of resurrection and new creation shape the way we live today?
8. Who in your life might need to hear about the grace and kingdom of Jesus, and what might be one step you could take toward that conversation this week?
